

CAN'T TRUST GERMAN RULERS PRESIDENT'S REPLY TO POPE

Death to Autocracy at Whatever Cost, Is Stand Taken by United States Executive in His Fight for Principles of Democracy; Teutonic Dictation Not Wanted.

WASHINGTON.—President Wilson has rejected the pope's peace proposals. The President's note in reply to the Pope's peace suggestions says that while every heart not blinded and hardened by the terrible war must be touched by the moving appeal of his holiness, it would be folly to take the path of peace he points out if it does not in fact lead to the goal he proposes.

The object of this war is to deliver the free peoples of the world from the menace and the actual power of a vast military establishment controlled by an irresponsible government.

This power is not the German people. It is the ruthless master of the German people.

It is no business of ours how that great people came under its control or submitted with temporary zest to the domination of its purpose; but it is our business to see to it that the history of the rest of the world is no longer left to its handling.

The purposes of the United States in this war are known to the whole world.

We seek no material advantage of any kind.

Positive damages, the dismemberment of empires, the establishment of selfish and exclusive economic leagues we deem inexpedient and in the end worse than futile, no proper basis for a peace of any kind.

We cannot take the word of the present rulers of Germany as a guarantee of anything that is to endure, unless explicitly supported by such conclusive evidence of the will and purpose of the German people themselves as the other peoples of the world would be justified in accepting.

WAR GARDENS MAY

RELIEVE THE FARMER

TOLEDO.—What the "war garden" can accomplish will be amply illustrated at the fourth annual National Farmers' Exposition to be held in the Toledo Terminal Auditorium from December 5 to 15, 1917.

This product of the enthusiastic city man who has endeavored to fill a patch of ground and at the same time dream of being a producer on the same scale as his fellow man in the country will be shown to good extent.

Visitors of the National Farmers' Exposition have set aside a limited space for the display of these city garden's products. Through the agencies of the various civic, school and municipal organizations, limited amounts of this produce from each garden will be shown. It is aimed to show the visitors what can be accomplished when the nation is thoroughly equipped for the proper tilling of the soil and the care of the produce.

As result of this effort this year it is believed by Director H. V. Buelow that a greater acreage will be sown in the various vacant patches in the towns of the country next year so that in a measure the burden of the farmer may be lifted somewhat. It greater attention to the handling of is aimed to permit the farmer to give grains and live stock, while his city brother is keeping his table replenished with fresh vegetables, many of which in the late season can be stored for the colder months so that the farmer can give more time to the marketing of the larger crops for which the Government has made ample provision for price return under the new food bill.

Director Buelow says that the responses from exhibitors to the fourth annual National Farmers' Exposition have thus far surprised him and other officials by their eagerness to display power farm machinery, soil products and live stock at the show next winter.

Household Hints

Recipes and Advice of Interest to Housewives.

WAR RECEIPTS.

Vegetables.

Creamed vegetables—Add 1/2 cup of white sauce to each cup of cooked vegetables.

Escalloped vegetables—Arrange the cooked vegetables in a baking dish in alternative layers with white sauce. Cover with buttered crumbs. If desired, and brown in the oven.

Cheese, curry, hard cooked eggs, peppers, chopped meat and fish may be added if desired.

Vegetable soup—For cream soup add to each cup of thin white sauce an equal amount of vegetable pulp or chopped vegetables.

To make vegetable soup without milk, the water in which vegetables are cooked is used as the basis. The vegetables may be cut in small cubes or may be forced through a strainer and the pulp used.

Croquettes—Leftover vegetables may be made into croquettes by combining with thick white sauce, mashed potato, cooked rice, macaroni, hominy or cornmeal mush. They may be rolled in cornmeal, flour or egg and crumbs and then fried in deep fat.

Vegetable salads—Diced or shredded vegetables may be added to a sour gelatine mixture. They may be served with dressings of various sorts. They may be combined with hard cooked eggs, meat, nuts or cottage cheese.

Carrots and Peas—Cook one cup of diced carrots in boiling salted water. Add to carrots 1 cup of cooked peas. Prepare a sauce of 2 tablespoons of fat, 3 tablespoons of flour, 1 cup of meat stock and half cup of milk; season with salt and pepper. Heat vegetables and sauce thoroughly and serve.

Curried Vegetables—1 c. potato cubes, 1 c. carrot, half c. turnip cubes, half c. canned peas.

Cook potatoes, carrot and turnip until soft, add peas and serve with the following sauce:

Cook two tablespoons of fat with two slices of onion, remove onion, add two tablespoons of flour, 3/4 teaspoon of salt, 1/4 teaspoon of pepper, 1/2 teaspoon of curry powder, 1/4 teaspoon of celery salt, then add one cup of water or milk. Heat the vegetable in this sauce, sprinkle chopped parsley over it and serve.

Escalloped cabbage—Cabbage, white sauce; buttered crumbs.
